

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal.

VOL. XIV.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1885.

NO. 2.

Semi-Weekly Interior Journal

Published Tuesdays and Fridays

$2.00 PER ANNUM

When paid strictly in advance. If we have to wait any time, $2.50 will be charged.

W. P. WALTON.

PAINT LICK, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mr. W. A. Anderson has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mr. R. M. Argo, deceased.

—We are told that our deputy agent Mr. J. L. Allen is whiling away his time on an invention that many ingenious men have failed on and that is perpetual motion.

—The old reliable Phoenix Insurance Co. is about to go back on a little $600 policy. The adjusting agent put off coming to see into the matter until the very last moment and when he did come he offered a little over half to compromise. C. B. Engleman says if he has to lose anything he will divide it with a lawyer and expects to institute suit against the company at once. Everything runs along nicely while it is going their way and it is all well and good. They never accuse a person of paying on more than he is insured for, but as soon as he meets with a loss they then say that he was insured for more than his property was worth. It is a poor rule that will not work both ways. From what we can learn insurance agents will hereafter meet with cool comfort here.

—Mr. Editor, with this issue we lay down our pen as your correspondent from this place. We regret to leave the little village in the hollow, as we had become so much attached to it and especially do we regret to leave the kind and good people here. Paint Lick can boast of a kind and good people as any place in the land. We hope that you will secure a representative more competent to give you the news from here each week and in better shape than we have.

FEEDING A HORSE—Feeding is said that the stomach of a horse is small in proportion to the size of his frame, he requires feeding often, and though three times a day is sufficient, four times is better. Unlike human beings, horses should drink before they eat because, owing to the conformation of the horse, water does not remain in the stomach, but passes through it into a large intestine called the cecum. If a horse be fed first, the water passing through the stomach would be likely to carry with it particles of food, and thus bring about colic. Whatever a groom may say, let a horse drink just as much as he likes. If he be watered four times a day, he will never take very much or too much to be good for him. A horse, it must be remembered, is fed on dry food, and this with the strong work done by a hunter, always produces feverishness, which a sufficiency of water tends to allay. [London Field.]

NOVEL MEANS OF DETECTING CRIMINALS—There have been many ordeals through which those suspected of crime have been obliged to pass; among them may be mentioned the ordeal of the cross, the ordeal of the eucharist, the ordeal of cold water, the ordeal by fire, the ordeal of touch and the ordeal of chewing rice. This is still in fashion in many parts of India. The person is obliged to chew rice in the presence of officers of the law. Curious as it may appear, such is the influence of fear on the salivary glands, that, if they are actually guilty, there is no secretion of saliva in the mouth, and chewing is impossible. Such pupils generally confess with out further effort. On the contrary, a consciousness of innocence allows of a proper flow of fluid for softening the rice. [Exchange.]

MOODY, without being an orator in the common acceptations of the term, exerts a power over his congregations not exceeded, if equaled, by any of the great pulpit orators. Regarding to none of the rhetorician's arts, without any effort or show of eloquence, he excites the emotions of his auditors by a something that is no part of his words when put into cold print. Few of the thousands that are thrilled to tears by his simple speech can conceive why it is so. "Animal magnetism" is a convenient retreat for built reason, and, as that may mean much or nothing, perhaps it is as good an explanation as can be given, if it be understood that the magnetism in this case is generated by a dynamo-engine of 400-horse power earnestness. [Louisville Times.]

The area of Fort Monroe is eighty acres and the distance around the walls is one mile and six-tenths. It mounts 118 guns, beside 18 tank howitzers in casemates and 51 of heavy calibre en barbette.

Kentucky should follow the example of Tennessee and abolish her Railroad Commission on the first day of her next term. [Winchester Sun.]

M'ROBERTS & STAGG,

the Druggists, who are always looking after the interest of their customers, have now secured the sale of Dr. Doan's Ointment and Lung Syrup, a remedy that never fails to cure Coughs, Whooping Cough, and all Lung Affections. For proof Coughs, try a few simple bottles. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

SOME COMMENTS ON THE NEAL REPRISAL.

—Hindman's action in the Neal case will probably close his public career at the expiration of his present term. [Covington Commonwealth.]

—On the 27th of March it will be in order for Lieut. Governor Hindman to take a trip North and give the Secretary of State a chance at Neal. Let all the officials have a chance to say whether he be guilty or innocent. [Cattletown Democrat.]

—Acting Governor Hindman has disappointed his friends. He is an inveterate of the stereotyped character. The respite of the miscreant Neal is an absurdity, an insult to the courts and an aggravation to an outraged people. The thirty days' respite was a foolish concession to the cranks who make themselves conspicuous in behalf of peculiarly infamous criminals. [Louisville New Argus.]

—We prophesy that Neal will never be hung. The proceedings of yesterday will do more to encourage mob law in Eastern Kentucky than anything that has happened for some time. It is estimated that thirty-three persons have lost their lives on account of the first crimes committed three years ago; besides the loss of property and the money expended and the end is not yet. [Ashland Republican.]

—It is the old story of deferred justice and non-execution of the law which has cost such a stain upon the escutcheon of Kentucky and made her social and law-abiding status a shame and a reproach to humanity. Is it any wonder that these reproaches should be cast upon our State when even her highest officials are timid and vacillating in the execution of her laws? What was there in Neal's case to demand any further investigation? [Richmond Herald.]

—The people of Eastern Kentucky and of the State generally will have the right to feel outraged in what seems to be a piece of sentimental weakness, and those concerned in the prompt punishment of crime will find little encouragement in this action, and there seems absolutely nothing upon which it can be justly based. Neal has had every opportunity to show his innocence and he has been convicted before every jury that tried him. Even the Court of Appeals, so prone to discover flaws in every process, has been unable to find any reason this time for ordering a new trial. [Louisville Commercial.]

—At the last moment a reprieve was given. If there was any ground for this delay different from what has been urged before, changing in any point the record as twice made up, it does not appear. Naturally there is great excitement and indignation throughout the State. It would promise ill for us if it were not so. Life is so cheap with us, justice is so rare, murder is so common, punishment so difficult, that we invite lawlessness, and the estimate of our citizens begin to ask if government by the mob is not better than no government at all. If men who had the opportunities Neal had had to clear themselves and failing can not be punished, then the whole pretense of justice is a farce, and the every session of the courts is a mockery. Neal's is an extreme case. The crime was the vilest. The trials have been the fairest, and the law has been stretched to the utmost in order to see that no injustice should be done him. If conviction after two such trials as have been accorded him can not stand, in the name of an outraged people what conviction will stand? [Courier-Journal.]

The tide is turning at last. A young man in Neal's country, Iowa, armed himself with a revolver and sallied out to shoot a young woman who had declined the offer of his hand. But she was up to snuff. She read the papers, and having frequently seen accounts of similar affairs quietly resolving that no discarded lover could make a victim of her, not if the court, or rather the courted, understood herself. When the young man arrived at the house on his deadly mission he found the fair but cruel one in the kitchen, doing the week's ironing. She didn't appear to suspect, and he expected to have an easy time preparing her for the coroner; but when he reached around to his pistol pocket, with the remark that her time had come, she stated, "I guess not!" and knocked him down with a flat iron, demolishing his nose and front teeth. Then she gave him the scalding contents of a tea-kettle that was singing cheerful airs on the stove, and when the family came in she was mopping the floor with him. The next time he proposes and is refused he will probably conclude that that settles it.

"Of course I have no objection to your having a beau, Jennie," said the fond father to his marriageable daughter, "but you must not keep him so late. Keeping a fire running all night lengthens the coal bill, you know." "That is true, papa," gurgled the fair girl, "but I have thought of that, and consequently have been very economical with the gas. The saving in gas will offset the additional expenditure in coal, and I must do George the justice to say that his views entirely coincide with mine in practicing economy in the matter of light."

Virginia and Kentucky—mother and daughter—will have no reason to blush when the sweet-toned music of a new period shall float through the halls of the coming Congress. The oratory of Daniel and Breckinridge will quickly turn the listener's thoughts to the return of the days of a Pretense and of a Cheats. [Frankfort Capital.]

Bare Arms, Shoulders, &c.

That handsome dude, Charles Euston Kincaid, contributes this to the Louisville Times: The elderly ladies have read the riot act to two conspicuous features of Washington social life—decolléte dresses and the punch-bowl. Henceforth they are parishes. The editor has gone forth, they must go. And there are a good many men who would like to go with them.

Oh for a lodge in some vast wilderness with these luxurious surroundings. "No," said a flat, bony-bosomed dame the other day, "the women here are not content to cut their dresses to a decent depth; they simply strip to the waist like prize fighters."

It will be a desperate struggle before the low-necked dress and the racy-bosomed punch succumb. It will take the army and the navy to suppress them, and then there would be greater danger of those Titanic arms of the nation fraternizing with the enemy.

Speaking of low-necked dresses reminds me. Several of us were standing around a roundabout beauty at one of the White House receptions, who was not only as full blown as a ripe cotton pod in her decolléte, but quite as robust and daring as to her speech. In the course of the conversation a bald-headed bachelor member was brought up and introduced. He made a number of those sweet set speeches which he had frequently used with thrilling effect on the stump, but when he got ready to go he said to the damsel of mad adipose and little bodies, in his gracious conventional way: "I must go; my party is waiting for me. Good-by; I hope to see more of you next time." "See more of me," said the belle to her bunch of beaux, with an arch look; "does he want the earth?"

There is a "craze" now among the young ladies to look slim. In this connection a married lady told me of a charming and unique costume a very slender and fashionable young society lady was wearing this winter. "She wears but two garments," said the lady. "The first is a close-fitting suit of chambray skin in one piece that clings to her like a new Alexandre kid glove. Her outside dress is tailor-cut and sets her 'smartly,' as the English say."

If this doesn't take the cake I'm no connoisseur. It is to be hoped that the Smithsonian Institution will receive the chambray skin garment when the damsel sheds it. It is, no doubt, warm and natty and nice.

A Foolish Girl.

The seventeen-year-old daughter of Dr. W—, fell, or imagined she did, wildly in love with a mellow-voiced baritone in the Mapleson company. Under an assumed name she wrote him gushing and romantic little notes, and finally sent her photograph. The face was so lovely that it piqued the singer's curiosity, but it was in vain he pleaded for an opportunity to see it. Miss W— could only enjoy her escapade as long as she maintained her incognito.

Finally the baritone, noting the name of the photographer, visited his parlors and ascertained his correspondent's name. Then he wrote to her under her real address, saying he had identified her, and she could take the choice of having her picture and notes back and giving him $200 in cash, or he would tell a reporter of the Police Gazette the story and have the picture published. There is little likelihood such a threat would have been carried out, but the girl was so terribly frightened that she sent him all the money she could scrape together and the rest of the sum in jewelry. [New York Letter.]

THE NUMBER OF WORDS WE USE—A well-educated person, who possesses a college sheafskin, reads his Bible, his Shakespeare and the daily papers, seldom uses more than 3,000 or 4,000 words in actual conversation. Accurate thinkers and close reasoners, who avoid vague and general expressions and wait till they find a word that exactly fits their meaning, employ a larger stock, and eloquent speakers may rise to a command of 10,000. Shakespeare who displayed a greater variety of expression than probably any writer in any language, produced all his plays with about 15,000 words. Milton's works are built up with about 8,000, and the Old Testament says all that it has to say with 5,462 words. In the English language there are, all told, 70,000 words. [Pittsburg Dispatch.]

CURE FOR PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, hips and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a very common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Doan's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching and affording a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Doan Medicine Co., Piquette, Ohio. Sold by all Druggists & Stages.

Ford County, Kansas.

[To the Editor of The Interior Journal.] Inclosed please find $2, our subscription for another year. We always welcome the JOURNAL and can not think of doing without it.

This has been an unusual severe winter with us. At this writing there is about six inches of snow on the ground. Have had more snow this winter than I ever saw in this country before, consequently stock of every kind has suffered, especially cattle that had to depend entirely on the range for food and the heavens for shelter. We have fed our cattle well and have lost but a few heads. Prairie hay is worth $8 per ton with us and scarce at that.

Our valley is booming and emigration pouring in every day. It will not be a great while until all the vacant land will be claimed and settled upon, and those who come West in search of a home will have to go further on than we are, and we are almost at the jumping off place.

I would like to write you a long letter and give more news from our fine country, but time forbids. Long may the INTERIOR JOURNAL live and prosper. Respectfully, Mrs. BETTIE HUTCHINSON.

There are fools everywhere, but Mr. Sterling seems especially afflicted with them, judging from the way they slobbered over Neal. A dispatch says: Neal's reception at Mt. Sterling was more that of a hero returning from victory than of a man charged with an infamous crime, and with strong circumstances pointing to his guilt. The people of Mt. Sterling seemed overjoyed at his safe return, and his march to the jail was a continued ovation. Men shouted, waved their hats, while ladies looked from windows and waved their handkerchiefs. Arriving at the jail Neal was received with open arms by the prisoners. They fell upon his neck and embraced him, while tears of joy at his safe return coursed down their cheeks. Bouquets of rare flowers were sent in the jail to Neal, and rich delicacies were given him to eat. The reception tendered Neal so overpowered him that he broke down and wept like a child.

There are nineteen known metals valued at $1,000 per avoirdupois pound. The most costly is vanadium, which is said to be worth $10,000 a pound. Of these nineteen metals only one is produced or used to any considerable extent and that is iridium, which is valued at $1,000 per pound. It is sometimes, but very sparingly used in electrical instruments.

Mr. B.—My dear here's a pretty aphorism from the Texas Siftings: "Sleep is merely an armistice in the battle of life."

Mrs. B.—It isn't correct in your case. "Why not, my dear?"

"You snore so loudly when you are asleep that one would think the battle was raging at its fiercest."

During the Exposition at New Orleans forty gambling houses, where banking games are run, keep open night and day. Gamblers have assembled there from all over the Union, and with the Louisiana lottery and other well-known attractions, New Orleans is, for the time being the wickedest city in the Union.

There are at present 30,000 locomotives in America. To keep up the standard and supply new demands 1,200 must be built each year. These locomotives cost on an average $10,000 each, which indicates a yearly expenditure of $12,000,000. There are sixteen locomotive works in the Union.

The air in South Florida is taking on a faint odor of orange blossoms, and very soon the pearly white of the flowers will mingle with the golden yellow of the fruit and the emerald green of the foliage to make the green bouquets of incomparable beauty. [Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union.]

There are 18,000 veterans going through the world on wooden legs who lost their limbs in the great war of the rebellion.

A single grain of corn produces 800, the seed of the poppy 32,000, and that of tobacco 300,000, in good soil.

THE REV. GEO. H. THAYER, of Bourbon, Ind. says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption Cure." For sale by Penny & McAllister.

ARE YOU MADE MISERABLE by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. For sale by Penny & McAllister.

Positive Cure for Piles. To the people of this county we would say that we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchal's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to cure or money refunded—Internal, External, Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. Price 50 cents a box. No cure, no pay. Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers. We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchal's Cathartic, a female remedy, to cure Female Discharges, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and displacement or bearing down feeling, Irregularities, Barrenness, Change of Life, Leucorrhoea, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like Headache, Bloating, Spinal Weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous debility, Palpitation of the Heart, &c. For sale by druggists. Price $1 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. Marchal, Utica, N. Y., for pamphlet, free. For sale by Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

Something for the Baby. What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby! A young man on the very edge of matrimony might easily be frightened from his purpose by hearing too much of that sort of music at the homes of his married friends. Yet babies cry commonly only when they are hungry. One teaspoonful of Doan's Baby Food will soothe the crying and bring the baby to sleep and give the house. Only 50c at druggists.

M'ROBERTS & STAGG

DRUGGISTS AND PHARMACEUTISTS,

Opera House Block, - - - Stanford, Ky.,

—DEALERS IN—

Drugs, Chemicals, Wall Paper, Wines, Musical Instruments, Books, Stationery, Liquor, Cigars, Pocket Cutlery, Oils, Lamps, Soap, Perfumery, Fire Arms, Machine Needles, Tobacco, etc.

Our Jewelry, Silverware and Optical Goods Department is in Charge of Col. Thos. Richards, who will Repair Watches and Clocks promptly and in the best style.

H. C. RUPLEY.

I have received and am still receiving New Goods for Fall and Winter, comprising the best in the market, which will be gotten up in style and make second to none in city or country. Give me a trial. H. C. Rupley

BOURNE!

"O, don't you remember sweet Alice, Ben Bolt?" "Her bright smile haunts me still!" "Yes, I saw her last at Dr. Bourne's Drug Store." No wonder, she got her paint from Bourne. "O, write me a letter from home." "John Anderson, my Joe John, you hair is like the snow—your eye is dim!" Tell the old coon to go to Bourne's and get some of his hair dressing and a pair of Le More's celebrated Rock Crystal Specs. "I wonder if she loves me?" "Shall I never behold thee?" "She will if you buy your beautifiers from Bourne." "Blossom bloom and then they wither." "Yes, and in good health, for I get my medicine from Bourne." "The perfumery are made into extracts for Bourne." "What are the wild ways saying?" "Bourne, Bourne, Bourne, Bourne, Bourne!" Then, Katy darling, do tell Lilly Dale to put Pick a Boo in Aunt Eddy's old arm chair and sing "Rock me to sleep, mother," while you go to Bourne's New Drug Store and get me a Tooth Brush, some Toilet Soap, a pair of Le More's Periscope Lenses, some of his 5-cent-a-quire Letter Paper, a bottle of Vanilla for your mother, strengthening Cordial for your grandmother and some worm candy for Jesus, and go quick or I'll make you think "This cruel war is not over."

B. K. WEAREN,

—AND—

Dealer in Furniture!

A Full and complete assortment of Furniture, embracing everything from the Cheapest to the Finest Parlor Suites. No need to go to the large cities to make your purchases, no matter what quantity or quality you want, as I can and will duplicate any prices you can obtain elsewhere, freight being added. Also a full assortment of Coffins, Cases, Shrouds and Robes, embracing all the New Styles, both cheap and expensive. Ware rooms opposite St. Anaph Hotel, Stanford, Ky.

T. J. BOSLEY, HOUSE PAINTER!

AND PAPER HANGER.

Fresco Ceiling Paper Hanging a Specialty. All Orders Promptly Attended to. 409-H

LEE F. HUFFMAN, SURGEON DENTIST,

STANFORD, KY. Office—South side Main Street, two doors above the Myers Hotel. Force Nitrous Oxide Gas administered when required.

DR. W. B. PENNY, Dentist,

STANFORD, KENTUCKY. Office on Lancaster street, next door to INTERIOR JOURNAL office. Office hours from 8 to 12 A. M. and 1 to 5 P. M. Anesthetics administered when necessary. (184-17.)

ALLEN'S GENUINE ORIGINAL NERVE & BONE LINIMENT.

Price, 25c. per bottle. Introduced in 1881 by Gen. Marston Allen. A painless, sure and speedy cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Old Sores, Burns, Sprains, Scalds, Cuts, Bruises, Swellings and all other bodily pains. Farmers and owners of stock recommend it as the best known remedy for cure of Shoulder Strains, Cracked Heels, Scratches, Chafes or Galls, Sprains, Cuts, Film in the Eyes, etc. Beware of imitations. CHAS. H. ALLEN, Jr., Sole Prop. and Manufacturer, Office, No. 3 W. 5th St., Cincinnati, O. For sale by all Druggists.

PLOWS! PLOWS!

Dayton Steel Plows, Champion Steel Plows, Champion Sulky Plows, Lime Stone Plows, Lone Star Plows, Bissell Chilled Plows, Gale Chilled Plows, Maysville Hill Side Plows, Malta Double Shovel Plows, Minkie Double Shovel Plows, Halls Double Shovel Plows, Minkie Pony Plows, Hall's Pony Plows, Malta Cultivators,

No end to Plows! All kinds of Plows! Plows of all sizes! Plows at all Prices! Plows from $2.50 to $50. —FOR SALE BY—

B. K. WEAREN, Agt.

Also dealer in Buggies, Carriages, Surreys, Spring Wagons, Farm Wagons, Harvesting Machines, Planters, Harrows and all kinds of Farming Machinery